

Lucky

LUCKY is a 2yr young, neutered male, fully vaccinated, crate trained, microchipped, hw negative, and ready for adoption ! He is an American Staffordshire Bull terrier, weighing only 40lbs, and full of FUN and funny antics !! LUCKY is quite the EXTROVERT with everyone he meets; he is always eager to greet you with kisses. He has been receptive to ALL people INVITED into his home; once he knows you're a friend, you'll be on the hook to play!! His favorite activities: wrestling, fetch, tug, and releasing the squeaker from the stuffed toy ... then will snuggle in for cuddles. When he is outside playing, you may notice he mostly hops and jumps in between walking and running. He is a strong young boy, so children age 12 and older would be best for him. And a fenced yard is required to help manage the energy and behavior of this young boy.

LUCKY currently lives and is a great playmate with a 35# male (7yr) chihuahua-beagle Baxter; he enjoys wrestling w Baxter who is teaching him manners and patience. LUCKY is learning to take turns, which is hard for bully breeds; he can be very talkative at times when he has to wait. 😊 He loves laying on top of furnace vents (absorbing as much heat as he can), when he's not excavating a fluffy squeaker toy....and laying "in your lap while he dreams and snores" is a special treat for LUCKY :-)

LUCKY seems to be "dog selective" so "slow / monitored introductions" are required. We find Lucky would do well with an older dog that is low-key and is tolerant of (or will ignore) Lucky's energy or playful antics; he seems to prefer dogs his size. If an unfamiliar dog pokes his nose through the fence OR one who might choose to jump into his yard (aka uninvited trespassers); he will protect his yard and family -which are prize and cherished possessions. Unsure about cats since Baxter (his live in mate) won't allow any into the yard. Leash walking is still WIP (work in progress).

LUCKY will do well with a family that has experience with this breed and all the comedy and love he can bring to a family !! IF interested in adopting LUCKY, please send an adoption application located on the ADOPTME page at Dream4pets.org
We typically adopt within a 120mile radius from Miami county OH
